

I am a consumer with substantial "early adopter" investments in existing HDTV gear. The FCC has already promulgated standards for HDTV transmission, and the gear that I bought adhered to these standards. A shift in standards now would cripple the adoption rate in the industry.